

7-8-1908

Bulloch Times

Notes

Condition varies. Some pages missing or in poor condition.

Originals provided for filming by the publisher.

Gift of Statesboro Herald and the Bulloch County Historical Society.

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues>

Recommended Citation

"Bulloch Times" (1908). Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues). 325.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/bulloch-news-issues/325>

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Bulloch County Historical Newspapers at Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. It has been accepted for inclusion in Bulloch County Newspapers (Single Issues) by an authorized administrator of Digital Commons@Georgia Southern. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

BULLOCH TIMES

ESTABLISHED 1892.

Published Weekly By The
BULLOCH TIMES PUBLISHING CO.
D. B. TURNER, Editor and Manager.
SUBSCRIPTION, $1.00 PER YEAR.

Entered as second class matter March 23, 1895, at the postoffice at Statesboro, Ga., under the Act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 8, 1908.

Look at Your Conduct.

The arrest and fining in the mayor's court last Saturday evening of an imported baseball player on a charge of disorderly conduct, has been the occasion of quite a little comment. The young man had picked a row with a player of the opposing team, and without provocation had struck him in the presence of all who witnessed the game. That more serious disorder did not follow, was due entirely to the disinclination of the young man attacked to fight back. As it was the affair ended without great disorder, but none of the credit was due to the young man who found his way before his honor the mayor.

The amount of the fine imposed by the mayor was the thing which caused the comment, the devotees to the sport contending that $15 was an unreasonable fine for a slight offense.

The TIMES believes that its friendliness to the sport and the members of the baseball team entitles it to the right to say that a fine with a sting to it was the proper thing. The Statesboro boys themselves are not rowdies on the diamond, and they do not want to tolerate rowdism in others. The disorderly spirit manifested by the hired player could be met by "nipping in the bud" by a fine that would be felt, and which serves as a warning to others. The success of the sport depends upon the patronage of the public, and the good people will not encourage with their presence an exhibition of rowdism.

Mayor Strange said in passing sentence that he had no time nor sympathy for the sport. He is entitled to his views. But whether friend or foe, the TIMES is sure that his seeming severity of sentence will be for the good of the sport if it tends to lessen the spirit of disorder.

This we believe it will do. At any rate the boys should tolerate only gentlemanly conduct from those they engage to assist them in the sport.

Constructively Sober.

The NEWS did not intend to lead anyone into telling on some one else when a few days ago this paper commented on an account of the Athens Banner, as to the speed with which business was transacted at the recent democratic state convention.

The course of comment runs thus: The Athens Banner remarks: "The convention yesterday was the first one held in Georgia since the state went dry. The delegates got through their work in good shape, however."

That is probably the reasons for the rapid and thorough dispatch of business.—Macon News.

If reports brought back from the convention are half true, search will have to be continued for the reason for the "rapid and thorough dispatch of business." Out of information is that though the state is dry, there were some very few delegations from the First District.—Bulloch Times.

The TIMES is not looking at the thing in the proper light. The convention was the legislative body of the democratic party in Georgia. It had a right therefore to do things in a legislative manner, and when the situation is sized up with due regard to legislative ruling conditions are cleared up amazingly.

In legislative bodies there are such things as "constructive recessions."

Didn't congress take a constructive recess a couple of years ago and draw mileage just the same as if the members had taken a week off and gone home, when as a matter of fact they never left their jobs in

PARKER ON LYNCHING

Pays His Respects to Recent Work of Waycross Mob.

ALSO TALKS REGARDING LYLES.

Thinks Lyles' Attorney "Made an Ass of Himself"—Uses Strong Language.

WAYCROSS, Ga., July 1.—Judge T. A. Parker of the superior court, in discussing Saturday night's lynching, said today: "I look upon it as one of the most dastardly outrages ever perpetrated in Georgia. It was absolutely inexcusable. If that drove of deputies from Wayne county, together with the sheriff of this county, had really wanted to prevent the lynching they could have done so. Their conduct in the affair is looked upon more like an invitation to the mob than like an effort to prevent the lynching."

"What was the use of taking the prisoners to the Butler crossing in order to prevent the mob getting them, and then going up-town and making what might just as well have been a public announcement of that fact? 'Oh, but the train was late,' they say. Well, when that was found out, and the crowd began to gather where the officers were and to become threatening, why did not the officers take their prisoners back to jail, as they were urged to do?"

"I believe that if Sheriff W. B. Lyons, of Wayne county, had had the prisoners in charge he would have protected them single-handed and alone. He is a man of courage and when he says to a mob, 'stand back,' his meaning is not easily mistaken. I hardly think the result would have been different had Sheriff Woodard had forty-eight instead of eight such deputies as he did have."

"The grand jury of this county will certainly fail of its duty if it does not make a full investigation of this affair, and indict every one connected either directly or indirectly with the outrageous murder, for murder it is."

"Under our system of laws and the constitution, the sheet anchor of our liberties, no one can be legally executed until he has had a fair and impartial trial before twelve jurors, properly and legally selected to hear the evidence and law, and then pass upon the question of his guilt and say he is guilty. When that is done the criminal may be punished. Before that, any one who constitutes himself judge, jury and sheriff, and assists in the taking of human life, becomes in the eyes of the law, a murderer. He has taken human life without authority for doing so. This is true, even though the victim be guilty of a most heinous crime and deserves to die."

"A lynching is doubly outrageous because innocent blood is shed. I see that one of the newspaper men are trying to throw all the responsibility for this outrage upon the citizens of Wayne county. This ought not to be. I am as deeply mortified and feel as keenly as any one can, the disgrace that is brought upon us, but it will do no good to try and saddle the disgrace upon others. The newspapers, as moulders of public sentiment, ought to contend earnestly for the maintenance of law and order, and should in every instance condemn as strongly as they can these serious violations of law."

Judge J. L. Sweet made a statement concerning the execution of Harry E. Lyles last week, calling it "judicial murder." Judge Parker was asked about this, and if he intended to reply to the statement. He said: "Judge Sweet's conduct and utterances with reference to the Lyles case have been so contemptible and unreasonable that to undertake to reply to him would be like answering the silly vapors of a madman. I am satisfied that the unanimous judgment of all sober-minded, law-abiding citizens is that Judge Sweet has made an ass of himself. I assure you that his charges and insinuations have not in the least disturbed me or caused

Bank of Statesboro

Statesboro, Ga.

Capital Stock, $75,000

PARIS ATE 50,000 HORSES LAST YEAR.

The Number Included Some Mules and Donkeys.

PARIS, July 3.—Although less meat was eaten in Paris last year than for a number of years preceding, the consumption of horse meat is on a steady increase. Paris has always set the fashion to the rest of the world in gastronomic affairs, as well as in the matter of women's attire. Foreigners residing in France are asking themselves whether Parisians will carry their love of horse flesh into the restaurant and dining room.

A little less than 50,000 horses, mules and donkeys were eaten in Paris alone last year. This is the proportion: For every hundred animals butchered at the hippo-abattoirs there are ninety-seven horses, two donkeys and one mule. Last year the sum total represented 25,000,000 pounds of meat. Many Americans and Englishmen have become quite fond of horse meat since their residence in Paris. It is said to be much more nutritious than beef, and is recommended by all Paris physicians for convalescents and consumptives.

The taste is not very different from that of beef. In fact, a man can eat a horse steak and never know the difference. The abattoirs where these animals are butchered are closely supervised by the city, and only healthy animals are slain.

MAN IN JAIL NAMED FOR THE PRESIDENCY.

Socialist Labor Party Goes to Prison for a Candidate.

NEW YORK, July 5.—Candidates for president and vice president of the United States were nominated and a platform adopted by the national convention of the socialist labor party here today. The ticket named is as follows:

President—Martin R. Preston, of Nevada.

Vice president—Donald Monroe, of Virginia.

Preston was placed in nomination by Daniel De Leon, who characterized the man he was naming as "an honest working man, not a professional working man," and added: "The name of that man is Martin R. Preston, and he is now in jail at Goldfield, Nev. Preston is in jail today for conduct that is honorable and which no working man would be ashamed of."

DeLeon explained that Preston had been sentenced to twenty-five years' imprisonment for shooting a restaurant keeper in Goldfield three years ago, during a strike.

The platform declares for the substitution of the co-operative commonwealth "for the present state of planless production, industrial war and social disorder."

WE DO A GENERAL BANKING BUSINESS AND WILL ATTEND TO YOUR ACCOUNT.

Gasoline Engine for Sale!

2-Horse Power International Harvester Company Gasoline Engine; brand new.

'Way below Factory or Agent's Price.

The firm here has a gasoline engine for sale. It is a 2-horse power International Harvester Company gasoline engine, brand new, and is offered at a price well below factory or agent's price. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways. It is a very good engine, and is well adapted for use in a variety of ways.

The Virtue of Necessity

By Graham Hood.

A RAZOR is an extremely useful article when it is applied to its proper purpose, but the man who tried to cut through prison bars with such an implement would soon find that it was of little value to him. He would succeed in dulling his razor quickly enough, however, but he would find that it would not make much impression upon his bars.

In spite of this very apparent fact, however, there are plenty of people in this world who persist in vainly trying to make a razor play the part of a crowbar. Hounded in by conditions that seem to be too many for them, surrounded by obstacles that are apparently insurmountable, they still insist upon attempting to leave their way out of their predicament with the assistance of no more serviceable weapon than a razor.

In contradiction to this entente with scarcely any class of individuals we have the example of those more reasonable human beings who are polite enough to make a virtue of necessity.

If they have no other possession than a penny candle they do not throw their property away in any vain attempt to run a universal lighting system to the end. Instead, they carefully hoard that little candle until the time comes when they are surely in need of it, when occasion asserts its value most advantageously. So, too, given only a razor, they would find some means of making good use of it, but always in its proper place as a razor; never in lieu of a pickaxe.

The inability to make the most of the opportunities that may have been offered by the occasion in the falling that has frequently proved a serious handicap in the race for success, whereas, on the other hand, the knack of being able to make the best possible use of such pale illuminants as the penny candle, or such impossible tools as the trail-edged razor, has been the means of helping many a man along the rough road that all must travel to reach the heights where fame and fortune dwell, the heights where alone one may find the realization of one's highest aspirations.

In order to attain these heights, which appear so impassable as one looks at them from a distance, it is necessary to make use of every advantage which opportunity can offer. If they are suited to our purpose, it is well! If they are unsuitable, it is for us to discover some means by which we can bend them to that purpose. On the contrary, those fools who have no time like the present. The present is the time that is given to us for such achievements, for the nature of tomorrow's harvest—whether it be a profitable or an unprofitable one—depends upon the manner in which we sow today.

It is for this reason that the man who makes a virtue of necessity has an incalculable advantage over the fellow who is always waiting for a better chance. The former may be just as thoroughly dissatisfied with his present condition as the latter, but he does not make a lot of talk about it. He does not go about bemoaning the cruel fate that will not give him the opportunity he deserves. On the contrary, he proceeds to make the most of the present, disagreeable as the circumstances may be. He sows his seed properly, at the proper time, and then he prepares to cultivate it. Having set for himself a goal, he directs all his attentions to that purpose, and every faculty that nature has given him is made to do some good service. However menial his position, however slight his opportunities, he makes the most of them, and thus, unconsciously perhaps, he fits himself to take advantage of the wider fields of usefulness that are certain to open to the man who has wisdom enough not to despise the small things which the present brings to him.

It is very easy to be discontented with one's lot, especially when it is filled with small, menial duties. To one who has not discovered the truth that the appearance of the discontent of the future depends upon the constructive work that is done today these menial tasks are extremely galling. It is when one learns that it is these little things that are the paving stones over which he must pass before he can attain his ideal that he reaches the point where he can see the wisdom of making a virtue of necessity.—From the New York Globe.

It is necessary for the employer, then, to devise means and methods of teaching the girls something of the simpler rules for writing in good style. If he will take the trouble to do this, it will not be long before a marked improvement in the stenographic work turned out will be noticed.

I know of a large mail order house which employs over fifty stenographers. They are not high salaried girls, none of them earning more than twelve dollars a week, but their work ranks among the best I have ever seen. The secret is this:

The firm hires a man who has entire charge of the stenographic department. To assemble all the girls once a week and delivers a ten-minute talk on good English. Supplementing this, each girl is given from time to time a mimeograph sheet of implicit instructions regarding points to be observed in matters of punctuation, capitalization, paragraphing, etc. The girls are devoted to the use of the mimeograph, and above the correct form of the more common abbreviations, and still another, the rules for using capitals.

Occasionally more time is appropriated for the general assembly and the meeting is turned into an old-fashioned spelling bee. A number of prizes are awarded, and the girls show great interest in the event. It is said they brush up their spelling for days in order to be well prepared.

It is necessary for the employer, then, to devise means and methods of teaching the girls something of the simpler rules for writing in good style. If he will take the trouble to do this, it will not be long before a marked improvement in the stenographic work turned out will be noticed.

I know of a large mail order house which employs over fifty stenographers. They are not high salaried girls, none of them earning more than twelve dollars a week, but their work ranks among the best I have ever seen. The secret is this:

The firm hires a man who has entire charge of the stenographic department. To assemble all the girls once a week and delivers a ten-minute talk on good English. Supplementing this, each girl is given from time to time a mimeograph sheet of implicit instructions regarding points to be observed in matters of punctuation, capitalization, paragraphing, etc. The girls are devoted to the use of the mimeograph, and above the correct form of the more common abbreviations, and still another, the rules for using capitals.

Occasionally more time is appropriated for the general assembly and the meeting is turned into an old-fashioned spelling bee. A number of prizes are awarded, and the girls show great interest in the event. It is said they brush up their spelling for days in order to be well prepared.

It is necessary for the employer, then, to devise means and methods of teaching the girls something of the simpler rules for writing in good style. If he will take the trouble to do this, it will not be long before a marked improvement in the stenographic work turned out will be noticed.

I know of a large mail order house which employs over fifty stenographers. They are not high salaried girls, none of them earning more than twelve dollars a week, but their work ranks among the best I have ever seen. The secret is this:

The firm hires a man who has entire charge of the stenographic department. To assemble all the girls once a week and delivers a ten-minute talk on good English. Supplementing this, each girl is given from time to time a mimeograph sheet of implicit instructions regarding points to be observed in matters of punctuation, capitalization, paragraphing, etc. The girls are devoted to the use of the mimeograph, and above the correct form of the more common abbreviations, and still another, the rules for using capitals.

Occasionally more time is appropriated for the general assembly and the meeting is turned into an old-fashioned spelling bee. A number of prizes are awarded, and the girls show great interest in the event. It is said they brush up their spelling for days in order to be well prepared.

It is necessary for the employer, then, to devise means and methods of teaching the girls something of the simpler rules for writing in good style. If he will take the trouble to do this, it will not be long before a marked improvement in the stenographic work turned out will be noticed.

I know of a large mail order house which employs over fifty stenographers. They are not high salaried girls, none of them earning more than twelve dollars a week, but their work ranks among the best I have ever seen. The secret is this:

The firm hires a man who has entire charge of the stenographic department. To assemble all the girls once a week and delivers a ten-minute talk on good English. Supplementing this, each girl is given from time to time a mimeograph sheet of implicit instructions regarding points to be observed in matters of punctuation, capitalization, paragraphing, etc. The girls are devoted to the use of the mimeograph, and above the correct form of the more common abbreviations, and still another, the rules for using capitals.

Occasionally more time is appropriated for the general assembly and the meeting is turned into an old-fashioned spelling bee. A number of prizes are awarded, and the girls show great interest in the event. It is said they brush up their spelling for days in order to be well prepared.

It is necessary for the employer, then, to devise means and methods of teaching the girls something of the simpler rules for writing in good style. If he will take the trouble to do this, it will not be long before a marked improvement in the stenographic work turned out will be noticed.

I know of a large mail order house which employs over fifty stenographers. They are not high salaried girls, none of them earning more than twelve dollars a week, but their work ranks among the best I have ever seen. The secret is this:

Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with.

When no longer needed, as the best of remedies, when required, are to assist nature and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper effort and right living generally. To get its beneficial effects, always by the genuine

Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna

California Fig Syrup Co. ONLY SOLD BY ALL LEADING DRUGGISTS one size only, regular price 50¢ per bottle

By GASOLINE.

"I had to sell my auto, but I haven't missed it yet."

"How's that?"

"You can get most of the sensations by cleaning rags."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

HEALTH BRINGS HAPPINESS.

Invalid Once, a Happy Woman Now.

Mrs. C. R. Shelton, Pleasant street, Covington, Tenn., says: "Once I seemed a helpless invalid, but not a day passed without the best of health. Kidney disease brought me down terribly. Rheumatism and pains made every movement painful. The secretions were disordered and my back ached so that I could not get up. I was in a bad condition, but medicines failed to help. I lost ground daily until I began with Doan's Kidney Pills. They helped me at once and soon made me strong and well."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

CORRECT.

"It costs more to live than it did years ago," said the man who complains.

"Yes," answered the man who enjoys modern conveniences, "but it's worth more."—Washington Star.

To Drive Out Malaria and Build Up the System

Take the Old Standard Quinine Tonic, LESS CHILL TONIC. You know what you are taking. The formula is plainly printed on every bottle. It is simply a tonic, and is not a malaria medicine, and is not a malaria medicine, and is not a malaria medicine.

An interesting product shipped recently from a well known New York land plant was a three-ply leather belt, 141 feet long and seventy-two inches wide.

DOCTOR SAID "USE CUTICURA"

For Bad Case of Eczema on Child—Disease Had Reached a Feared Stage—After Resulted in Cure.

"When I was small I was troubled with eczema for about three months. It was all over my face and covered nearly all of my head. It reached such a state that it was just a raw sore all over, and the pain and itching were terrible. I doctored with an able physician for some time and was then advised by him to use the Cuticura Remedies, which I did and I was entirely cured. I have not been bothered with it since. I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, but do not know exactly how the cure was completed. My mother, Miss Anna Wilson, North Branch, Me., Oct. 20, '07."

WOW!

"He—They say that people who marry soon grow to look alike."

She—Then you must consider my refusal as final."—Illustrated Bits.

KEEP YOUR SKIN HEALTHY.

TEETHING has done wonders for sufferers from eczema, tetter, ground itch, erythema, infantile scald, chaps, chafes and other forms of skin diseases. In aggravated cases of eczema, its cure has been marvelous and thousands of people sing its praises. See at druggists or by mail from T. J. SURRANCE, Dept. A, Savannah, Ga.

A motor vehicle purchased by the town of Tyngsboro, England, can be used as a prison van, fire apparatus or ambulance.

Ladies Can Wear Shoes One size smaller after using Allen's Foot Powder. It makes tighter shoes roomy. Cures swollen, hot, sweating feet. Itching, ingrowing nails, corns and bunions. At all druggists. 25¢. Don't miss this opportunity. Trial package free by mail. Address Allen & Olmsted, LeRoy, N. Y.

Riding an Ostrich.

"I don't believe the stories told about the natives in Africa and Australia riding ostriches," said a California man, who gives riding lessons in an up-to-date riding academy, "and I saw this pretty well tried on one occasion in my State. A cowboy who had vanquished every pony he ever undertook to break in was induced to try an ostrich. After an hour's hard work he succeeded in mounting the ostrich, which he tried to shake and roll him off, but these tactics of course had no effect upon the cowboy. Then, in spite of all the man could do, the ostrich succeeded in getting its head around and seizing the rider by the calf of one leg. Finally, the man, after much frantic kicking, got his leg free. He then dismounted, his feet under him and the ostrich reached over his wings and got a good, fast hold on the man's back, throwing him heavily to the ground and tramping on him. It took three days of it to chase the infuriated ostrich away, and we accomplished it barely in time to save the man's life. That's why I don't believe the natives in Australia can ride ostriches."—New York Press.

On the French Northern railway many carriages are lighted by acetylene, and the results of using this method of illumination are said to be satisfactory.

DIARY TO RING WORM.

"Everybody gets a spook for TETTERING, because it cures me of eczema in its worst form. My whole chest from neck to waist was raw; but TETTERING cured me. It is a cure for a bad case of eczema. So says Mrs. M. F. Jones, of 25 Thainhill St., Pittsburgh, Pa. TETTERING, the great skin remedy, is sold by druggists or sent by mail for 50¢. Write T. J. SURRANCE, Dept. A, Savannah, Ga.

BUSINESS ETHICS.

"I don't think a man should live to disgrace his family."

"Why, what's the matter with you?"

"John R. Dickey's old reliable eye water cures sore eyes or granulated lids. Don't hurt, feels good; get the genuine in red box."

ENDURANCE.

"Your daughter has a wonderful ear for music," answered Mr. Cumrox wearily.

"Seems like it can stand most anything,"—Washington Star.

GOOD-BYE TO CORNS.

You can say good-bye to your corns, bunions, sore heels, and other annoying symptoms. Apply CUTICURA TO THE CORNS, and you will be cured. It is a sure, quick, permanent cure. It cures the painful, soft corns as well as the hard ones and removes warts. 25¢. At druggists or by mail from THE AMBROSIO CO., Savannah, Ga.

OFFEN THROWN TOGETHER.

"Do you ever meet Dr. Rybold?"

"Often. He and I—er—are thrown together a great deal. We travel the same suburban trolley line."—Chicago Tribune.

Proof is inexcusable that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, nervous prostration, Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice, to tell her of their troubles, and to receive a free trial bottle of her health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Never call an aggressive man a liar to his face. Use a long distance phone and break the news to him gently.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Cures Col

